Sunday on train

Joe dearest,

I hated to see you leave & yet I'm so happy ^{to have been!} (illegible) with you. Separation between people who love each other makes the reunion always like a new discovery. You forget how much you love certain movements of the hands or the glances in the person's eyes or how nice it is to sit in the same room and look at their back! I shall be so thankful when the war is over that I hope I shall always remember to treasure the gift of being with those I love -

I came across a nice paragraph just now for scribblers like myself:- "If you do not write what you think you are deceiving people - That is a crime - If you really write what you think you make people pay attention to you (illegible) - And that is a (illegible) - - - He added that in this life one could say what one thought only to one or two people."

Perhaps one should just write letters to those one loves!

The train is full of boys, most of them air force. How people's lives have been dislocated & yet for Love it may be good. I hear a boy behind me saying he's gained 25 lbs. since he came in.

The weather still looks good and I hope for a plane so your letter will be in Trude's hands tonight. I hope all goes well for next weekend. Bless you dear. Thanks for such a happy time.

All my love,

E. R.

I read the enclosed article by Lt. Neilan (?) and thought you might be interested so cut it out. He talked to a lot of boys from Chamute (?) (illegible), radio, mechanics, etc., but I don't think any were (illegible) men - just as well, for their is only one I'm really interested in! We will be about a half hour late, but flying is clear (?) all the way they say, so we fly!

Love again,

E.R.

Monday night

Joe dearest,

Frank and I are just leaving for N. Y. but I must write a line to tell you that I had your letter ready for her when she arrived at a little after twelve last night - We talked about you & I do hope nothing keeps her from you this coming week end. She misses you. Her eyes must have bothered her and she doesn't look just right to me. She just needs you I guess.

Tommy and I flew and arrived about 8:30 p.m. So I got much mail done last evening. Trude will have told you that your idea turned out to be the only one we liked at all for the radio today. The young ones on the whole were disappointing. Perhaps one must live a little to be able anyway of expressing even what is disturbing one ??

I'll write again tomorrow. This is really to tell you that I'm still happy in the thought of one nice peaceful day & love you.

My dearest Joe, I think of you and Trude together and hope you are very, very happy. There is no word from New York so I hope the children are getting on well.

I'll send you more cookies and things from Oregon when I know you are moved and settled.

This day has been a busy one - Spanish lesson and then a visit from the vice president. He brought some interesting documents which I will bring when next we meet since I dare not entrust them to the mails.

Newspaper ladies to lunch, a meeting for Mrs. Bettemmes College at which we raised several thousand dollars. I don't think I'll do as well at the Little meeting in N.Y. next Tuesday P.M. - This evening the Nelson Rockefeller's to dine. He wanted me to go to S. America. After dinner we had a movie "The Human Comedy" taken from Saroyan's book. Have you seen it? It is deeply moving but I don't stand such things well - I want to rage against the waste and horrors of it.

I talked awhile tonight about going to China and Russia and FDR feels I should not go for some time. I think he hopes to meet Stalin and Chiang this spring or summer and wants to wait on that. So I think I'll go West and see all I can of you and hope that you and Trude will use the cottages for a few days alone and then let me come and see you! I must finish this tomorrow as I want to enclose a poem which has to be copied. Goodnight dear boy and bless you - My love to you.

Saturday 6:30 P.M. I just called New York to have news of the children if you and Trude call. It is good even on Peter so you should be carefree. My lunch for the Capitol Page Boys was apparently a great success! Also I've rehearsed with Martha of Norway for Monday night and I think she'll do well!

Confession is good for the soul, so I'll tell you that Dorothy Roosevelt is here. She has a friend and her son staying here and wants me to see innumerable guests. I would not care if she'd have them and I felt no obligations. I want to eat alone tonight and work but I have to have 7 of them for dinner while FDR has Eden, Winant and Harry. I

I know I'm selfish but if I don't really like people I hate doing personal things for them! Now I have blown off and I'll try to be nice.

Bless you and all my love.

Dear Mr. Joe

Your letter, written Thursday, came today and I was happy to hear your voice and Trude's last night. She did holla about Eliot and her talk but I never get any feeling of indignation in her, just regrets that he has to be hurt when she is so weak. Her eyes troubled her, too and if you were able to be strong and trusting, I'm sure you gave her all she needed and then she would be able to reassure you. Your lack of trust is understandable after these past years and you must fight the "fever." You see her being trust-ful and your life depends largely upon your trust! Sound trust is but is often true! You know nothing is ever finally won, it is always won by daily acts. A real marriage means continuous effort, continuous working and loving and understanding and forgiving. I think real friendship is the same. No real human contacts live and grow untended.

Trude made me happy by asking me to go and see the little house with her on Tuesday and she said she was going to talk it over with you as she wanted you so much to see it and she is planning for your joint lives in it.

I imagine Betty Louise Roosevelt at Hoke Sound is not far from Lewis but I don't think he'd enjoy her or her group. Tell him to go visit her Farm Society Camps in the Everglades back of Palm Beach. He might be interested and in the menagerie he might find some congenial souls.

You are right about Elliott's letter. It was good but designing to answer Lambertson seems to me a waste of time.

I put in a good evening of work last night and slept longer than usual and I feel like a nicer person than I did when I wrote you yesterday. Walked an hour and a half with

Joe dearest,

It was good to get your little note written Sunday here & I am keeping my fingers crossed for you & Trude. I dropped her at the house this morning. She looked better, but she phoned (illegible) today. Peter had a cough & Mickey the sniffles. At the time she came in I had just left. She is not worried about the children. Mrs. Troy had called her & she wanted to see her. She was annoyed to find that it was largely curiosity about Madam Chiang which brought about the call! How little people are sometimes! Mr. Weiss (?) spent an hour this morning with me & he is really a big person! Remind me to tell you the whole Marshall Field & Congress Rask (?) situation next time we are together. It is too long & complicated to write, but you would be interested I think. Mr. Weiss told me his daughter had a bad time & he's (illegible) trying to get a job in Washington. Melvyn Douglas came to see me last night saying that he had heard he might not be allowed to go to officer's training school because of his past record & another man was denied his commission the last day because he had been a labor organizer. Today's P.M. carries a story on the War Dept. School (illegible) which grew from my suggestion of investigation I surmise & is rather (illegible). I feel, as you gather, a bit depressed, but it makes me want to fight harder.

I spoke at Barnard this noon and now must go to the Girl Scouts. Hildur Coon (?) is going to Rocketter instead of June. I'll see Trude when I get back on Thursday & I hope I can send you a letter by her. Then I'd like you to move the next week!

I enclose an interview which may amuse you. The memo from a young man in B.E.W. I want your reaction on. He want S. American trade, but wouldn't these methods be somewhat difficult?

Tuesday

Joe dearest,

Hildur came up with me last night & she feels as I do that Trude should go to the doctor and have a real check up. She looks badly. I will urge her to do this when she returns next time & I hope you will, but Hildur does not want anyone to know she said anything. Now, I'm going to say something which is none of my business & please forgive me if you are angry. If by chance Trude should find a baby on the way, make her go at once & get her divorce & I don't think any arguments she may have made should interfere. If, however, she feels she must live up to certain understandings or commitments because of me (?) & the children, I still think she should not go through what she has done before. She then feels guilty & untrue to you and to herself, & from the health point I think it is dangerous. Better to devise some means of circumventing gossip & prying eyes. I know she will not want to talk to me about all this. Perhaps I should not even talk to you & perhaps there is nothing of this kind to worry her or you, but somehow I felt this must be written & you must know that if in anyway I could be helpful, financially or otherwise, I was to be counted on.

I like the Valentines. He is young for the head of their University and seems thoughtful & liberal. The day will soon (illegible) conference & I hope I can be (illegible) I feel quite fresh, but the night (illegible) & by this afternoon I may be weary! The Russians seem to have a set back in the morning news, but only on a part of the front & Tunis is encouraging. Oh! how I long for steady improvement everywhere so the enemy may decide it is useless & give up -

My love to you dear, if you think I am too interfering just remember that I love you & Trude dearly & will try to do nothing to hurt you if I can help it -

Devotedly -

We're back & Hildur did well, tho she ran into some discouraging things. Bless you & I hope you get this before Trude leaves.

County Writer, Mrs. FDR Put U.N.'s Story Into Book

The United Nations story has been reduced to a pocket-size booklet with funny pictures by Jean Picker of Mamaroneck and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

"United Nations-What You Should Know about It", is a new 32-page booklet covering a department-by-department tour of the U. N. organization. The subject matter attempts to answer in the simplest way the most often asked questions which Mrs. Picker and Mrs. Roosevelt have heard in their separate careers at the U. N.

Jean Picker conceived the idea of the booklet after three years as a volunteer for the Public Reception Committee at the U.N. to which she gives one and sometimes two days a week. Mrs. Roosevelt liked the idea, edited Mrs. Picker's copy and double-checked all questions and answers. Robert Baldwin of New York gave the booklet visual appeal with cartoon-style line drawings.

"We think it is jazzy enough to attract any reader, at least to look at the pictures," Mrs. Picker said today in summing up her opinion of the booklet. A first printing of 50,000 copies has been made by the publishers, Vision Inc., of New London, Conn. "Mrs. Roosevelt and I hope the booklet will be the answer to a need felt by schools, discussion groups, libraries and organizations interested in the United Nations," Mrs. Picker said.

Writing booklets is a volunteer project has become a hobby of Mrs. Harvey Picker since she left the staff of Life Magazine to be a Westchester housewife. After one or two trials in a small way Jean Picker wrote and edited "Your Westchester County Government" which was published by the County last year.

Mrs. Roosevelt Scores U.S. Immigration Ban

United States immigration control ideas might do us laws barring the entry of Communists are "wonderful propaganda for the Russians," Eleanor Roosevelt said yesterday.

Nikita Khrushchev can boast that the Soviet Union has not denied entry to a single American in the past year, whereas the United States has barred many Russians. Mrs. Roosevelt told the conference of the American Association for the United Nations at the Mayflower.

harm?" She said Soviet efforts to "sell" their system to peoples of Asia, Africa and the Middle East are not being matched by United States programs.

"We are sending people back to their homes with no knowledge of the United States except cocktail parties," she declared. "I'm tired of that."

Cooperation Asked

"I am sure that if we relax every restriction we have against letting Communists in, the Russians will immediately clamp down and not let them out," she declared.

In another session, Willard Espy, New York economist, called for United States cooperation with the Soviet Union in an aid program for underprivileged areas sponsored by the United Nations.

Propaganda Advantage

"We would not get many more visitors than we have now, but the Russians would lose a great propaganda advantage," she continued.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she "would love to have Khrushchev and other Soviet leaders invited to visit here," and asked:

"Are we so afraid of what might happen to us that we think visitors who have dis-accurately and meet adequately the needs and potentials of underdeveloped areas, we must formulate a program that is independent of cold war maneuverings," he said. Such a program "could be the first great move toward a sheathing of the sword."

Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.) described a United Nations aid program called Special Projects for Underdeveloped Regions which gets under way today.

Establishment of a permanent United Nations police force was urged by Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen (R-N. J.), John Oliver, former chief administrative officer of the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East, and Clarence A. Berdahl, professor of political science at the University of Illinois.

"FIGHTING DEMOCRACY"

INTRODUCTION

A new international movement with a labor base has recently been formed in France. It is called "Fighting Democracy" (Démocratie Combattante) and is headed by Léon Jouhaux, 1951 Nobel Peace Prize winner, head of Force Ouvrière (French anti-Communist trade union federation), vice-president of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU), head of the French labor delegation to the UN's International Labor Office (ILO), and President of the Conseil Economique and thus the fifth highest ranking official of the French government.

This organization shows marked neutralist tendencies and includes some politically dubious persons amongst its organizers. It has already, however, shown a capacity for attracting extremely important support from anti-Communist and non-neutralist quarters, including American ones. A vast American fund-raising campaign is about to start.

It is therefore important to determine the political direction of this organization, its probable development, influence, and effects, and above all to determine policy in relation to it.

BIRTH OF A MOVEMENT:

Following the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to Léon Jouhaux in November 1951, a great manifestation was held in the Sorbonne amphitheatre on January 16, 1952, during the UN Session in Paris, with tributes in honor of Jouhaux coming from the platform from such notables as Paul Ramadier, Edouard Herriot, Padillo Nervo, George Picot, David Morse, René Cassin, Robert Bothereau and Sir Vincent Tewson, by message from Mrs. Roosevelt, Vincent Auriol, René Pleven, Joseph Paul-Boncour, Trygve Lie and others.

I would also like for you to go as you could get some relaxation and at the same time you could talk with [redacted] concerning the American Committee for Yugoslav Relief. [redacted] has already been told to request Mrs. ROOSEVELT to continue as Honorary President, but that he thinks that this is impossible for the time being because he has already written to her some two or three months ago asking her to remain at least until June 1948.

Dear Subscriber:

The man in the club car wore a gold pin-stripe suit with a Rotary button in the lapel, but his round, pink face had a worried and defeated look.

"I'm through," said the salesman. "I'm not sore. I'm just up against a blank wall. We've got to win the war and I've got to get out of the way. I'm not the only one in this fix...."

And Stuart Chase follows through this displaced man's thinking to some hard facts that the rest of us have to face, too. You'll find them in the May issue of Common Sense.

Your bread and butter and mine - and the guns for us in America and for the whole United Nations front - are at issue in these words of Milton Stewart:

"One of the most indicative symptoms of an age of major social transition is the widespread re-examination by all articulate camps of the slogans, shibboleths and totems for which they have written and fought."

And from Stephen Spender in post-blitz London:

"Things keep on happening in this war which seem to show that some of the men on top are slower than the general public in their grasp of the dynamic qualities...."

Here's the morale front on which Common Sense is fighting with all its strength. The coming articles announced on the enclosed page point to specific lines of thought leading to positive action. They are reinforced with a guide for channelizing your action in the directions in which it will do the most practical good - now. Watch for the new feature "Louder than Words." Act on it, and contribute toward it.

But your subscription is expiring. The usual order form is enclosed with more than usual urgency that you continue to back the job to which all of us are pledged. May we hear from you?

Cordially yours,

... THERE IS A KIND OF MADNESS..."

WHAT ELSE BUT MADNESS is it when we seek comfort in the calculation that one-half rather than three-fourths of our population would die in all-out nuclear war?

WHAT ELSE BUT MADNESS is it when our hope for security lies in terror?

WHAT ELSE BUT MADNESS is it when each of two powerful countries insist that all agreements be to the sole advantage of it alone?

WHAT ELSE BUT MADNESS is it when we think that rearming Germany with nuclear weapons is a step toward peace?

The Western position on Berlin and reunification of armed Germany within NATO is not realistic. No Russian leader would permit a re-armed and united Germany to join NATO any more than the West would permit it to join the Warsaw Pact.

As Norman Thomas said recently, "There is a kind of madness about the willingness of the West to threaten war in order basically to ally itself with a rearmed Germany."

On a side-road near Staunton, Va. stands an old shanty, and thereby hangs a tale. Years ago, an aged resident of Staunton, John T. Wine, told the story of a little girl who went to school with him in that shanty. She was the daughter of a white abolitionist, Simon Stover, who married a negro girl, Elizabeth Juda, who had been adopted by the Link family.

Simon Stover resolved that his daughter should go to school with the white children. But when little Lizzie Stover came into that schoolhouse, she was met with jeers and derision from the white pupils, the same ordeal that the colored children of Clinton are enduring today.

After her parents disappeared, Lizzie Stover went to the Midwest and married a white man. In his stirring book, "Eisenhower, Man and Soldier", Francis Trevelyan Miller describes her fierce resolve, on page 91;

"Ida had two ambitions now — the first to be a good wife and mother, the second to advance world brotherhood. She was eager to wipe out racial prejudices, to raise the Negro to the status of equal citizenship."

Of all her children, Ida Lizzie Eisenhower found her son David the most receptive to her ideas. David never forgot his mother's humiliation. When he led the American armies to victory over the white supremacists of Germany, and when he forced the white supremacists of the Southern States to their knees, the champion of the colored world must have thought, "I am avenging the insult to my mother."

The purpose of the Lizzie Stover College Fund is to establish a college for all races, colors, and creeds on the site of that old schoolhouse near Staunton, Va. Thus a bastion of democracy will rise on the scene of a little girl's tragedy, a little girl who must have lain awake at night, her pillow wet with tears, never dreaming that she would become the mother of a President who would avenge the wrongs done to her people.

We need your help in this project. Send all donations to the Hon. Adam Clayton Powell, House Office Bldg., Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Roosevelt Starts Group To Fight 'Reactionary Trend'

By Edward T. Folliard
Post Reporter

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, disturbed by what she called a "reactionary trend," came here yesterday to announce the formation of a new, nonpartisan committee flying the liberal banner.

It is called the National Issues Committee, and its avowed purpose is to "keep America on the path of progress." The committee, which is out to raise $100,000 for its first year of operation, has its headquarters at 818 21st st. nw.

Mrs. Roosevelt, national chairman of the committee, held forth at a press conference in the Shoreham Hotel, explaining the committee's background, its plans, and its hopes. Now 68, she has not changed greatly since the time when she was First Lady, although she did seem to have trouble hearing questions asked of her by the reporters.

In a prepared statement, Mrs. Roosevelt expressed concern about the situation abroad and at home. She said that "our friends throughout the world are beginning to lose confidence in America." The same forces which have blunted the edge of America's world leadership, she said, are largely responsible for reaction at home—for the talk about a "controlled recession," for all but destroying the Federal housing program, for abandoning the Hell's Canyon project, and for lost ground in the fields of health and education.

"The conflict in all these areas," Mrs. Roosevelt said in her prepared statement, "is not one between Republicans and Democrats, for in every case both Republicans and Democrats will be found on each side. Instead, I feel sure that the whole trend I have outlined results chiefly from a lack of See ROOSEVELT, Page 2, Col. 1 reliable, straightforward information available to the people. We are going to fill this gap to the best of our ability through the National Issues Committee.

"This new, disturbing trend also stems in part from a miasma of confusion and uncertainty which has overtaken us in recent years, dimming our objectives and undermining our confidence in ourselves and in each other. In this atmosphere the know-nothing and the demagogue have their opportunity and make the most of it, although they speak only for a tiny minority.

"The task we have set ourselves, therefore, is to redefine the great issues which confront this Nation, to restate them in simple and popular terms as objectively as possible, and to see to it that the people get the facts upon which the making of sound judgment depends . . ."

A reporter asked Mrs. Roosevelt if her statement wasn't in fact, "an attack on the Eisenhower Administration."

She insisted that she was dealing primarily with issues, and she said the reporter had to ask himself if President Eisenhower was dealing properly with those issues.

At one point, however, she laughed and did openly disagree with General Eisenhower. A reporter told her that the Chief Executive, at a news conference, had cited the Tennessee Valley Authority as an example of creeping socialism.

"I don't happen to agree with that," she said.

Mrs. Roosevelt, although insisting that the National Issues Committee was nonpartisan, didn't dispute a reporter's observation that it was top-heavy with Democrats. She said that members of both parties had been invited to join, but that far more Democrats had accepted.

Dr. Pryor, executive director of the committee, said it was hoped that Republicans would accept in time. Pryor used to be a familiar figure in Washington when he was a news commentator for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that she first became aware of the "reactionary trend" last year when Harry S. Truman was in the White House. She said that Mr. Truman was not at fault; that the real cause was lack of factual information in the hands of the people.

She said that the National Issues Committee began to take form last spring in a conference she had with Philip Schiff, Washington representative of the National Jewish Welfare Board. Schiff is now chairman of the executive board of the new committee.

Other members of the committee are Arthur J. Altmeyer, Alan Barth, Mary McLeod Bethune, Charles I. Braunan, Oscar Chapman, Clark M. Clifford, Mary M. Condon, Morris F. Cooke, Dorothy B. Ferebee, Frank Graham, A. J. Hayes, Leon Keyserling, Philip Klutznick, Murray Lincoln, James Patton, Robert R. Nathan, Walter P. Reuther, Emil Rieve, Harry W. Mrs. Roosevelt Heads 'Issues Committee' to Give Public Facts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (UP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt today announced the formation of a new nonpartisan "liberal" organization with the goal of giving the American people "the facts" on important public issues.

Mrs. Roosevelt flew to Washington to hold a news conference at which she outlined plans for the group, to be known as the "National Issues Committee." She said 21 persons already have agreed to serve on the committee under her chairmanship.

WIRE F. D.

The former President's widow said 120 prominent citizens invited to serve include both Democrats and Republicans, but those who already have agreed to work with the group were mostly well-known Democrats.

They included former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, former Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman and several others from the Truman Administration.

"Our objective," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "is to refute any manifestation of fear, confusion, frustration, and despair, and to help keep America on the path of progress."

She said the United States has failed to measure up to its opportunity "to lead the world into an era of peace and progress."

form" redefining the great problems confronting the Nation.

The nonpartisan committee, formed to stimulate free and open discussion and provide facts on national issues, urged citizens to unite in "a great effort of democratic fact finding, discussion, and self-education."

The platform listed among its objectives a constantly expanding economy based on full employment; maximum expansion of private enterprise; the use of Government control only when absolutely necessary; Government activity only where private enterprise cannot do the job and equal opportunity for all.

In the international field, the platform urged adherence to the United Nations; the solving of international problems by negotiation and conciliation;
universal disarmament as an eventual goal but maintenance of armed forces until tyranny subsides and expanded and liberalized trade.

Mrs. Roosevelt said the committee would sponsor its first regional conference here September 21. Similar meetings will be held in other cities.

THE DIRECTOR:

The thought occurs that if the President does not know of the furor that was caused in G-2 some years ago as the result of G-2's investigation of [REDACTED] and his connections with Mrs. Roosevelt, you might want to consider mentioning this incident to him.

[REDACTED] is a close friend of Jimmy Wechsler and the last word I had was that [REDACTED] was working for the New York Post which has been exceedingly critical of the President as well as of us. Wechsler, of course, is a kingpin in the Americans for Democratic Action along with Mrs. Roosevelt. [REDACTED] had a signed article in N.Y. Post today.

The attached memorandum details [REDACTED] connections with Mrs. Roosevelt along with the G-2 investigation, the subsequent confrontation with Mrs. Roosevelt and the order issued by FDR that everyone knowing of this action should be sent to the South Pacific until they were killed. The information was furnished to [REDACTED] when he was assigned to Liaison by a Colonel Kibler and [REDACTED]

This, of course, could have a relationship to the subsequent orders given the Army to destroy the files on subversives.

We have photostats of the G-2 investigative reports on their coverage of [REDACTED] and there is no question about [REDACTED] tie-in with Mrs. Roosevelt. G-2 files contain Mrs. Roosevelt's letters to [REDACTED] which invariably start with "Joe Dearest" and end with "All my love, ER."

Indicative of the type of data in this file is a report dated March 7, 1943, reflecting that Mrs. Roosevelt checked into the Urbana-Lincoln Hotel, Urbana, Illinois 11:45 a.m., March 5, 1943, accompanied by Malvina Thompson. She expressed the wish that no publicity be given to her arrival. At the time of her registration, she stated she expected a young friend from Chanute Field to visit her and reserved Room 330 for him. She occupied Room 332. The rooms were joined by a connecting door. At 9 o'clock on March 5, [REDACTED] called at the Urbana Lincoln Hotel stating he understood Mrs. Roosevelt had a room reserved for him. He was directed to Room 330,

Mrs. Roosevelt ordered dinner for the three sent to Room 332 at 8:30 p.m. Upon the arrival of [REDACTED] Malvina Thompson had her luggage moved into the room occupied by Mrs. Roosevelt. Neither Mrs. Roosevelt nor [REDACTED] left their hotel rooms during the entire day of March 6, 1943, except to have lunch in the hotel dining room. Other meals were served in their rooms.

When Mrs. Roosevelt checked out on the morning of March 7, she paid all the bills.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR:

[redacted] and I have checked on the [redacted] file.

With reference to the Mrs. Roosevelt incident, we of course never investigated this. It was investigated by CIC prior to 1943. We do have a photostat of the G-2 file.

There were no recordings ^{in the Bureau files.} between Mrs. Roosevelt and [redacted]. Obviously, they did have a microphone because there were recordings of conversations between [redacted] and [redacted] which also reflected what transpired in the hotel room.

This information was given to [redacted] by [redacted] and [redacted]. It is recorded in a blue memorandum dated December 31, 1949.

The blue memorandum and a photostat of the G-2 file are maintained by [redacted] but have never been in the Files Section.

It is not believed that anyone in the Bureau has knowledge of this except [redacted], me, and the stenographer whose initials are [redacted] and whose identity we are now trying to establish.

It is therefore believed thoroughly safe for [redacted] to tell [redacted] the FBI never investigated the Roosevelt incident. There is nothing from official sources on this in the FBI files.

Both [redacted] and I do recall there have been newspaper articles linking [redacted] to Mrs. Roosevelt.

In 1949, Frank Waldrop of the Times Herald told me they were on the trail of certain recordings that allegedly would show an illicit relationship between [redacted] and Mrs. Roosevelt. At that time I made a thorough check of all our files and there was nothing in the main files. The pink memorandum has never been circulated in the Bureau and is not known to anyone outside of [redacted] in my office, [redacted], and you. [redacted] was informed of my check this morning although he vaguely recalls when I was checking on this a year ago.

MEMORANDUM FOR [REDACTED]

Re: DISMEMBERMENT OF COUNTERINTELLIGENCE
CORPS, G-2

It has been apparent to the writer for several months that certain powerful interests within or near the War Department have undertaken an active program aimed at the dismemberment of the Counterintelligence Corps of G-2. It is now the writer's belief that this opinion is justified because of certain information which has come to my attention and which is set out below.

Recently at a G-2 social function the writer had a long discussion with [REDACTED] who is Officer in Charge of the Counterintelligence Corps. This discussion was of a very frank nature since the writer has become very friendly personally with [REDACTED]. The Colonel stated quite frankly that the reason Counterintelligence Corps had been wrecked was that Harry Hopkins and the Secret Service had ordered it to be so wrecked. [REDACTED] stated that through some unknown means Harry Hopkins learned that the Counterintelligence Corps was investigating [REDACTED] former Young Communist leader who is now in the Army and that in this investigation they had run upon Mrs. Roosevelt who had come to Chicago apparently for the purpose of meeting [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] stated that he did not know exactly how Hopkins found out about this but believed it was through some indiscretion of [REDACTED] who is the Director of Intelligence, Sixth Service Command, stationed in Chicago.

[REDACTED] has recently been in Washington on leave and the writer spent an evening with him at his home. During the course of the evening [REDACTED] exhibited a deep bitterness about the way he had been treated in the Army and after a period of time advised the writer of the reason why he had been so treated. He stated that he had learned that he had been recommended for a promotion to Brigadier General on several occasions and on each occasion this recommendation had been stopped in the office of Lieutenant General McNarney, Deputy Chief of Staff.

Recently while [REDACTED] was in Washington he made some calls at the War Department and learned that he had been blackballed by the White House. He also learned that because of his record it was quite possible that at the present time, if he had not been blackballed, he would be a Major General. He also had a long discussion with Colonel Forney who succeeded [REDACTED] as Chief, Counterintelligence Group, C-2. Forney advised [REDACTED] that the reason he had been blackballed and the reason that he would never advance any further in the Army and would probably never be sent out of the country with troops was because he had been connected with the [REDACTED]-Eleanor Roosevelt investigation in Chicago.

Forney stated to [REDACTED] that the facts of this investigation had been disclosed to the White House through some unknown means and that shortly after [REDACTED] left, a call was received by General Strong and Colonel Forney to proceed to the White House with the complete records of this matter at approximately 10:00 p.m. at night. When they reached the White House they were received by the President, General Watson and Harry Hopkins and were ordered to produce the entire records in this case. Colonel Forney stated to [REDACTED] that this was extremely embarrassing in as much as the material contained a recording of the entire proceedings between [REDACTED] and Mrs. Roosevelt which had been obtained through a microphone which had been planted in the hotel room. This recording indicated quite clearly that Mrs. Roosevelt and [REDACTED] engaged in sexual intercourse during their stay in the hotel room. Forney advised [REDACTED] that after this record was played Mrs. Roosevelt was called into the conference and was confronted with the information and this resulted in a terrific fight between the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. At approximately 5:00 a.m. the next morning the President called for General Arnold, Chief of the Army Air Corps, and upon his arrival at the conference ordered him to have [REDACTED] outside the United States and on his way to a combat post within ten hours.

After the conference was over it was learned that the President had ordered that anybody who knew anything about this case should be immediately relieved of his duties and sent to the South Pacific for action against the Japs until they were killed. Forney advised [REDACTED] that everyone who is known to have any knowledge at all of this matter is on the permanent black list at the White House. [REDACTED] stated that the only thing that kept these men from being sent to the South Pacific was that it was learned that there were too many of them to be treated in this manner. [REDACTED] stated that the only reason that more was not done to him was that General Watson apparently came to his defense and assured the President that [REDACTED] would not talk about this matter indiscriminately.

Respectfully,

[REDACTED]

PARIS RALLY HAILS FREEDOM IN PEACE

Non-Red Groups Proclaim Aim, as Voiced by Sidney Hook, to Bar Soviet Strait-Jacket

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
PARIS, April 30—As the climax of a day dedicated to "Resistance to Dictatorship and War" 5,000 Parisians crowded tonight into the Velodrome d'Hiver, the city's biggest sports arena, to hear orators from several countries proclaim their solidarity with the forces of peace and liberty in the world.

"Peace through freedom and freedom through peace" was the theme of the meeting, which followed by a week here the Communist-dominated World Congress of Partisans of Peace.

The "Day" was sponsored by the Rassemblement Democratique Revolutionnaire (Revolutionary Democratic Rally), an independent left-wing group, and had the support of the Socialist party, the non-Communist trade unions and many liberal organizations.

Several speakers criticized French policy in Viet Nam and the policies of other colonial nations; but at the same time shared the view emphasized by Dr. Sidney Hook, New York University professor of philosophy, that totalitarianism, hampering freedom of expression, is one of the chief causes of war.

Spanish Exile a Speaker
Jose Delmenach, a delegate of the Spanish exiles attacked the Western powers for desiring, he said, to invite Spain under Generalissimo Francisco Franco to membership in the United Nations.

Out of these widely varied and sometimes conflicting opinions the meeting finally achieved approach to general agreement that restrictions upon personal liberty were a fundamental factor leading to war.

This conclusion contrasted strongly with the resolution adopted by the World Congress of Partisans of Peace, which made its sole protest against what it alleged was a capitalistic conspiracy to provoke a war against the Soviet Union.

A feature of the evening was the playing of a recorded message from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Speaking in French, Mrs. Roosevelt said that if war was to be avoided the community of nations must cleave to a concept of liberty that, while tolerant of the freedom of others, was disciplined by a notion of the common weal.

Farrell Hits Use of the Big Lie
PARIS, April 30 (AP)—An American speaker at the Revolutionary Democratic Rally charged today that the Communist-sponsored World Peace Congress here last week preached "ideological hooliganism."

The Communists' partisan congress was an attempt to manipulate "deeply felt sentiments for peace and freedom by applying a Soviet version of Adolf Hitler's technique of the big lie," said James T. Farrell, American author.

Prof. Sidney Hook of New York University, who is chairman of Americans for Intellectual Freedom, spoke with Mr. Farrell at a day session in the Sorbonne Auditorium.

Saying that Hitler's "mad nationalism" tried to impose a strait-jacket on all science and art, Dr. Hook asserted:

"Today in the Soviet Union, and gradually in all other countries behind the Iron Curtain, similar obscurantist views are being imposed on all scientists, writers and artists. The color of the intellectual straitjacket is different, but the cut is the same."

Dr. Hook said that, so long as Soviet authorities carried on this "cold pogrom" against objective truth, "the danger is increased that what cannot be solved by reasoning together will be settled by fighting together."

Defends Truman's Purpose
He said that nowhere in the world was there less freedom of movement and choice than in the Soviet Union. He commented that President Truman had signed his name to a report on civil liberties that freely admitted evils, then asked:

"Do the leaders of Russia sign reports condemning the evils of slave labor, the repression of civil liberties and the destruction of free trade unions?"

Mr. Farrell said Soviet propaganda was deliberately misrepresenting American life in order to create a myth of a Soviet heaven and an American hell, and "all critics of the Russian regime are then turned into sinful enemies of the human race."

Jacques de Kadt, a Dutch Socialist, urged Leftists everywhere to break with Stalinism, which he called an "enemy of peace."

He drew both cheers and boos when he backed the North Atlantic pact and said only the military force of the United States made it possible to hold a meeting for peace and freedom on the European Continent.

There was some disorder when several youths tried to interrupt the program, a group representative of Jewish Socialists. Police were called to oust three or four of the youths. Police said they were Trotskyites who were disappointed at not getting a place on the program.

The ad was headlined "Did You Ever Think that You Are Un-American?" The ad protested the issuance of Presidential Executive Order #9835. It included quotations from persons described as "leading Americans" who objected to the issuance of the order and demanded its cancellation. Among these persons were FIORELLA LA GUARDIA, HENRY WALLACE, PHILIP MURRAY, ELEANOR ROOSEVELT, and ZACHARIAH CHAFFEE, JR. CHAFFEE said many things, and concluded with "No provision is made for a detailed record of the hearing, or for that matter, for a record of any kind.
